“OPEN SKY, FLAT LAND”

An annual gathering of descendants and friends of the Trøndelag, Gudbrandsdal,
Northern Hedmark, Solør and Romerike regions of Norway

1–4 August 2023
Courtyard by Marriott
Moorhead, Minnesota

Velkommen til Stevne 2023!

Welcome to the second Flere Lag Stevne. We are returning to the Red River Valley (of the north) to which many Norwegians immigrated in the late 19th and early 20th Centuries. My own maternal grandparents came to Norman County Minnesota in the 1890s. I remember fondly visiting them in Shelly MN each summer after WWII. My uncle Clarence Gaudland ran a fuel delivery business and when I visited I often rode shotgun in his 300 gal tank truck while delivering gas to local farmers. Most all of his business was conducted in Norwegian. So even 75 years ago I knew my Norwegian heritage.

The Flere Lag Stevne Steering Committee has planned an exciting and meaningful meeting that explores and reveals the depths of the Norwegian-American influence on this part of North America. As the Red River runs from Fargo to Winnipeg, a distance of 221 miles, the elevation changes by 122 feet. That's a bit more than 6 inches per mile. That is flat.

Today we celebrate the contributions our forefathers {one could write ancestors} have made to this wonderful part of the continent. Ha det!

9:45 AM – 10:45 AM	Keynote: Valley Voices: Open Sky, Flat Land, and Norwegians Too! —Lawrence Moe Professor Emeritus, University of Minnesota, PhD in Medieval literature and language; Scandinavian Studies The beautiful Red River Valley is a geologically distinct region of rich soil, intense climate, wide open sky, and profoundly flat land. Its European settlement came in a single pioneer generation that included large numbers of Norwegians. Professor Moe has collected thousands of Valley poems (mostly from 1900–1940) that capture clear images of life on this once-remote prairie. Dr. Moe will discuss these Valley writers (mostly everyday folks), and bring their meaningful voices to life! 	Salons D + E + F

11:00 AM – 12:00 PM	Seminar: Encounter on the Great Plains —Karen Hansen, PhD., Professor of Sociology at Brandeis University, with appointments in Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies and History (joining us via Zoom) The lure of land brought Norwegian migrants to the North American heartland. But the land was not free, nor was it “empty.” In the early 20th century, those who took advantage of a homesteading opportunity came face-to-face with Spirit Lake Dakota Indians as they settled on their reservation. Access to productive property on the reservation, made possible by the US government, turned Norwegians into the neighbors of Dakotas. Ownership enabled Norwegians—men and women alike—to cultivate land to support their families and make a western home. It also entangled them in complicated relationships that challenged them morally and practically, and endured throughout the century. 	Salons D + E + F

This remarkable epic takes place in early medieval Nordic settings, and appeals to those interested in Norse myth and legend—or to anyone interested in The Lord of the Rings (which Professor Tolkien drew in part from the world of Beowulf). Dr. Moe will overview the plot of Beowulf, and discuss its timeless themes.	 Salons E + F

	Seminar B: Toils on Soils: How Regional Geology Impacted Euro-American Settlement in the Fargo-Moorhead Region — Donald Schwert Geologist, North Dakota State University in Fargo The last Ice Age left a legacy of sediments in the Red River Valley region of North Dakota and Minnesota which are today some of the world's richest soils. These same soils, however, can be extremely problematic due to their extraordinary weakness. Covered in this presentation are the post-glacial history of what is today the Fargo-Moorhead region, a brief history of Lake Agassiz, the inception of the Red River of the North, and the challenges/benefits during Euro-American settlement associated with the soils that underlie this region. Several remarkable case examples will be covered.	 Salons B + C

	Seminar A: Founding Clay County—Markus Krueger Programming Director for the Historical and Cultural Society of Clay County, Moorhead, MN In 1871, the Northern Pacific Railway came through the Red River Valley, bringing farmers and creating towns. This is the complicated and often funny story of founding Clay County, Minnesota. Who lived here first and what treaties allowed US settlement here? Who were the first pioneers? Why are there so many Norwegians around here? What's the Homestead Act all about? Who are our towns named for? How does a train to nowhere sell tickets? And how did a Wild West saloon gunfight create our government? 	Salons E + F
	Seminar B: Oh No! Where Did it Go?—Claudia Berg Director Emeritus of the State Historical Society of North Dakota Family stories are precious things often saved in photographs, documents, and objects. How can these materials be cared for and preserved before they deteriorate or are damaged beyond use. Whether you have family photos, home movies, or a Norwegian Bible, work with an organization that has a variety of collections such as newspapers, documents, spinning wheels and bunads, best practices in the care and preservation of these materials are important. We will look at how damage occurs over time, preservation care of different types of materials, funding resources to accomplish preservation projects and successful examples to promote support for and awareness of your organization. 10:45 AM – 11:45 AM	Concurrent Seminars
	Seminar A: Jubilee of the Battle of Hafrsfjord —Lars Walker, MLIS. Translator and Viking Reenactor During June of 2022, I traveled to Norway to participate in the 1,150 th anniversary jubilee of the Battle of Hafrsfjord in 872. Hafrsfjord is traditionally considered the decisive victory in King Harald Fairhair's campaign to unify Norway under a single ruler. While there I participated as a Viking reenactor, and also got to visit a number of other historic sites in western Norway. My presentation features photos and highlights of the sites I saw, and I'll put it all in historical context.	 Salons E + F
	Seminar B: Who the Heck? Identifying Mystery DNA Matches —Dennis Haarsager, NPR (retired), serving in broadcasting and public media The Brits use a common phrase, “Bob’s your uncle,” to mean, “and there you have it,” used to express a conclusion that’s somewhat obvious. But what if you’ve had your DNA tested and you’re staring at names on your results pages you don’t recognize, especially those with larger DNA matches. How does this unknown match named Bob Rackafratz fit into what you know about your family? A missing uncle, perhaps? The answer usually isn’t even somewhat obvious. One of the first things one learns doing genealogy is that facts sometimes conflict with what you’ve heard or even with each other, even for biological parentage. In this talk, we will cover techniques and sources for teasing out where in your tree do your DNA matches fit.	 Salons B + C
11:00 AM – 3:00 PM	Hospitality Suite Open
11:45 AM – 1:15 PM	Lunch (on your own)
1:15 PM – 2:15 PM	Concurrent Seminars
	Seminar A: The Arts and Crafts of Ancient Scandinavia —Sven Lindauer, historical painter & sculptor for National Geographic TV; U.S. Marshal Service Museum My presentations are about the 7-year journey to research, create all paintings, (all the Scandinavian folks who modeled for each painting, their life stories), and the publishing of this first book in my series of five of them.	 Salons E + F
	Seminar B: Free Land! —Mark Peihl Archivist for the Historical and Cultural Society of Clay County, Moorhead, MN In the 19th century, the US government dispossessed Native peoples from their ancestral lands in the upper Midwest. Soon after came a flood of settlers, many immigrants from Norway, seeking farms. The federal government created a series of programs designed to dispose of this land and get the west settled. This presentation will look at some of the ways the US government disposed of this land and how settlers exploited these opportunities.	 Salons B + C

	Seminar A: Under Prairie Skies—Solveig Kitchell Director, Norman County Historical Society's Prairie Village in Ada, MN The question has been asked, why Minnesota? More specifically, why Norman County in Minnesota? I've used the resources of our society to try to help us understand the answers to these two questions. The Homestead Act of 1862 was prime motivation for poor Norwegians who had little or no chance to inherit a farm in their home country. Land officers and the railroad advertised the land of promise and adventurous souls answered the call. Follow the paths of two pioneer families in Norman County to understand how life evolved for them and their descendants.	 Salons E + F
	Seminar B: Red River Girl—Mark Peihl Archivist for the Historical and Cultural Society of Clay County, Moorhead, MN In 2020, the Historical and Cultural Society of Clay County and the West Telemark Museum in Eidsborg, Norway collaborated on a bi-lingual exhibit and book about the art and writings of a remarkable daughter of immigrants from Telemark, Orabel Thortvedt. A trained artist, amateur local historian and talented writer, Orabel wrote a manuscript describing her family's journey from Telemark to the United States in 1861 and their subsequent move to Clay County. When they settled along the Buffalo River northwest of Glyndon, MN in 1870, there were no towns, no schools, no churches or even a railroad. It was the raw edge of the frontier. Orabel's tale is one of great adventure. She kept revising the story for fifty years, never satisfied with it. The two museums published the most complete version of her saga illustrated with her own drawings and paintings and created an accompanying exhibit.	 Salons B + C
